

CrossLink Professional Tax Solutions (CPTS) Announces Development of CrossLink Online Tax Software Solution for Professional Tax Preparers

Tracy, Calif. (Feb. 28, 2018) CrossLink Professional Tax Solutions (CPTS), a leading provider of professional tax software solutions to tax preparers across the United States, today announced the development of CrossLink Online for professional tax preparers for the 2019 Tax Season (Tax Year 2018). CrossLink Online will have the strength and functionality of the CrossLink 1040 desktop product with the additional benefits and technology unique to online solutions.

“Today’s professional tax preparer is evolving. They are on the move more than ever before and as a result they are looking for an online product with desktop functionality that can move with them,” stated Charles Robertson, Chief Technology Officer at CPTS. He continued, “This product will accomplish that and much more.”

Rafael Alvarez, Founder, President and CEO for ATAX Accounting & Financial Services commented, “As a nationwide accounting and financial services company we require a robust, reliable, and complete tax software solution. A 100% online tax software solution from CrossLink meets these needs and is a game changer for our franchises. The industry is evolving and CrossLink continues to be at the forefront of innovation.”

CPTS is committed to bringing the best technology to the professional tax preparation market and recognizes that in addition to office-based preparers, the industry will continue to see the growth of mobile preparers each and every year.

“CrossLink continues to grow at a rapid pace and we pride ourselves in doing so with the best development team in the industry,” stated Robertson. “We are always adding top talent and are currently looking to grow our team by approximately 20% this year as we continue to lead the industry in innovation.”
